Jack's
FUNtastic
Day

This is the story of little Jack Quick.
He never ran, or kicked a ball.
In fact, he hardly ever moved at all.

Jack could usually be seen cradling his screen,
swiping here, pressing there,
while sitting still in his chair.

Until ...

One day when Jack was dawdling,
not looking where he went,

he tripped
and rolled out of control,
his glasses, they got bent.

Jack huffed and puffed with anger,
his face went red right after.

He picked himself up off the ground, then ...

... burst out loud with laughter!

“That looked like fun!”
a voice piped up.
“I’m Ruby, by the way.
Let’s see what else
is fun round here.
Let’s find new ways to play.”

With that the pair joined forces,
fun-finding was their mission.
“Let’s find the fun in everything!
Let’s start our expedition!”

First they both went jumping, kangaroos with bushy tails.
They crawled and slid with basket shells like tortoises and snails.

A treasure hunt found feathers and leaves of every kind.
“Hey, look at the clouds,” said Jack.
“What creatures can we find?”

When the weather turned wild and the rain fell down
the fun was still there...

... it just had to be found!

Inside the house were gadgets,
like pots and pans and tongs.

“Come on Jack, keep time with me!
We’ll play some happy-day songs.”

When hide and seek was on,
Jack's family tried their luck.

Pop hid inside a clothes bin where he got totally stuck!

Statues was a tricky game.

In hallway cricket mum took aim.

In hopscotch
Jack became a bunny.

Dressing up
was really funny.

By now the day was ending,
with no screens used at all,
Jack and Ruby had found the fun and had a ZIPDIGGITY ball.

They shared the best day ever,
with laughter and squeals of glee.

“Let’s find the fun all the time,” said Jack,
“... in everything we see.”

Little Jack Quick has fun using his screen but when he trips and takes a tumble, he discovers there's a lot more fun to be found ... just about everywhere!
